LIFE SETTLEMENTS

LIFE SETTLEMENT INSIGHTS

The secondary market for life insurance allows qualifying individuals to realize greater value for their life insurance. Prior to this market becoming available, consumers who wanted to dispose of unwanted life insurance were limited to surrendering the policy for the cash value established by the issuing insurance company, or letting it lapse.

Some of the reasons that people do sell their life insurance policies are changes in their financial situation, the policy is no longer needed, or the policy becomes unaffordable. Other possible reasons might include:

- ◆ A safety net for beneficiaries is no longer needed due to lifetime wealth accumulation, changes in marital status or the maturity of children.
- ◆ The policy owner is over insured or wishes to dispose of an existing policy to execute a more appropriate one.
- ◆ Sale, dissolution or bankruptcy of a business eliminates the need for a key-person policy.
- ◆ Tax law changes have reduced the need to subsidize estate taxes.
- ◆ A family or medical emergency arises.
- ◆ Insurance policy premiums have become unaffordable.
- ◆ Business loans secured by the policy have been repaid.
- ◆ Stock market volatility has diminished retirement income.
- ◆ A need exists to fund a long term care program.

You may be better off selling your policy rather than accepting the cash surrender value. The cash generated can reduce financial stress, provide for retirement, or can be used for immediate family needs.
